

The Antioch Commons

Antioch, as its mission statement proclaims, is “founded on principles of rigorous liberal arts education, innovative experiential learning and socially engaged citizenship.” All three of these principles imply breadth of perspective. Thus an Antioch education, undergraduate or graduate, encourages systems thinking, reflective practice and awareness of the social context of one’s professional, community and personal roles. Accordingly, Antioch provides its students with opportunities to participate in a University Commons - a shared intellectual territory not identified exclusively with any one discipline or Antioch program, but touching all of them. This Commons encompasses Antioch’s library services, its Learning and Teaching Cooperative, and its student life programs. It also includes selected course offerings, addressing such questions as: What are the qualities, the attributes and the characteristics we seek as learners at Antioch? In what areas can we best enhance our capabilities for collaboration? What special skills and perspectives are required for that purpose?

Some classes are accepted as Commons-eligible because of their very wide appeal and appropriateness for students, faculty and staff, others because of their breadth of study.

Cross-program courses intrinsically are for the common good, as are writing and research classes that enhance students’ capacity for intellectual work in a variety of contexts. All students are encouraged to consider how the Commons courses may fit their degree plans and enhance their learning.

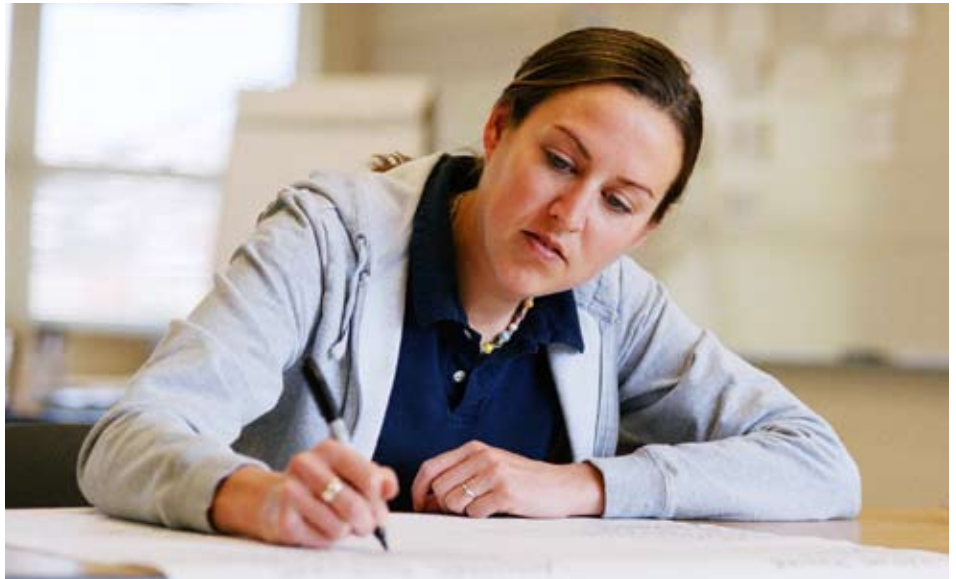

AUS Faculty at Large

Christina Dawson, Ed.D.

Daniel Masler, M.L.I.S.

Anne Maxham, Ph.D.

Susan Starbuck, Ph.D.

Open Cross-Program Enrollment

These courses are available for cross-program enrollment for the entire registration period. Check course description for fees for materials and/or required instructor permission; check myAntioch for any prerequisites. All other courses are closed to cross-program enrollment until the end of open registration. See the Registration Activity Grid for dates.

A&L303-1 Writing the Stories We Know (3-4)

A&L311-1 Acting Fundamentals: Acting Step I (3)

A&L312-1 Acting with Text: Acting Step II (3)

A&L313-1 Voice: Acting Step III (3)

A&L326-1 The Making of a Literary Journal: KNOCK (3-4)

A&L328-1 The Comedic Mask (3-4)

A&L335-1 The American Family in Literature and Film (3-4)

A&L390-1 Special Topics in Arts & Literature: Redefining Art: Contemporary View (3-4)

ENVC300-1 Environmental Studies (3-4)

ENVC303-1 Birds in the Imagination and in the Field (3-4)

EXP400-1 Service Learning: Women’s Education Project

LOS306-1 Intro to Non-Profit Management (3-4)

PSYC310-1 The Counseling Role (3-4)

PSYC490-1 Theories of Personality (3)

PSYC492-1 Lifespan Development (3-4)

PSYC494-1 Abnormal Psychology (3-4)

SOC312-1 Community Organizing in Action (3-4)

SOC390-1 Special Topics in Sociology: Case Management Best Practices (5)

SOJ404-1 Brown Thought and Activism (3-4)

SPIR305-1 Life of Spirit in Action (3-4)

SPIR390-1 Special Topics in Spiritual Studies: Psyche and World Religions (3-4)

SPIR407-1 Integral Psychology and Spirituality (3-4)

Writing at the Learning & Teaching Coop

At Antioch University Seattle, we have developed a writing program that is innovative and integrative across academic programs. Now, both undergraduate and graduate students may find writing classes in one location: the LT Coop. Enroll in a writing course, and you'll find yourself in classes with students across programs with a common goal to learn and grow as writers. These writing courses offer Antioch students a broad scope of writing experience, from understanding the writing process, to academic writing, to formal research and inquiry, to technical and professional writing. The courses are all taught by "writing experts," who are experienced faculty, and are designed with a very specific educational goal to bring writing to a critical examination within the academic experience at AUS.

Take a look at the offerings. Talk with your adviser. Meet with the Writing or LT Coordinator. Dive into Writing!

Questions? Contact:

Coordinator of Writing:
Anne Maxham, Ph.D.
 (amaxham@antiochseattle.edu)

Coordinator of the LT Coop:
Bryan Tomasovich, Ph.D.
 (btomasovich@antiochseattle.edu)

Writing Faculty

Mary Baylor, M.F.A.
 Vincent Kovar, M.A.
 Anne Maxham, Ph.D.
 Maria Pickering, M.A.
 Susan Starbuck, Ph.D.
 Susanne Sturm, M.A.

Course #	Description	Instructor	Day and Time	Credits
WRTG400-1	 Writing Tutorial	Susanne Sturm	Wednesdays, 6 to 7 p.m.	1
WRTG404-1	 The Writing Process	Susan Starbuck	Tuesdays, 4 to 6:30 p.m.	3
WRTG405-1	 Writing in Academic Contexts	Maria Pickering	Wednesdays, 7 to 9:30 p.m.	3
WRTG406-1	 Inquiry and Research	Mary Baylor	Thursdays, 4 to 6:30 p.m.	3
WRTG407-1	 Technical and Professional Writing	Vincent Kovar	Thursdays, 7 to 9:30 p.m.	3
WRTG600-1	 Writing Tutorial	Susanne Sturm	Thursdays, 6 to 7 p.m.	1
WRTG604-1	 The Writing Process	Susan Starbuck	Tuesdays, 4 to 6:30 p.m.	3
WRTG605-1	 Writing in Academic Contexts	Maria Pickering	Wednesdays, 7 to 9:30 p.m.	3
WRTG606-1	 Inquiry and Research	Mary Baylor	Thursdays, 4 to 6:30 p.m.	3
WRTG607-1	 Technical and Professional Writing	Vincent Kovar	Thursdays, 7 to 9:30 p.m.	3
WRTG706-1	Inquiry and Research-Doctoral	Anne Maxham	Fridays, 4:15 to 7:15 p.m. 10/3-12/12; no class 11/28	3